Coal Diggers Defy Return To Pits Order

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Some striking coal miners were described by union officials today as angry and belligerent as about 58,000 miners continued a walkout in defiance of union orders.

"They're sort of belligerent. They're disappointed in the fact that they don't have a contract," said Joseph Yablonski, president of the United Mine Workers District 5 of Clarksburg, Pa.

Harvey Yonker, UMW director at Johnstown, Pa., said: "We're telling the men that it is our very honest desire and urgent request that they return to work immediately."

Yonker said some locals have given indication of early compliance with the back-to-work directive, "but others are angry and in no mood to work without a contract."

Contract negotiations between the union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association were scheduled to resume today in Washington.

One western Pennsylvania mine owner said he is not going to enter into negotiations as long as the strike continues. Another threatened court action.

"We still have a contract that's in force, and while the men are out on strike, that's negotiating under duress," said an operator who asked not to be identified.

Another said, "This is strictly a wildcat strike and we are going to go to court to get an injunction."

The walkout, which started early Monday and spread to eight states, is the most widespread and largest work stoppage in the soft coal fields in 15 years.

A handful of strikers returned to work Tuesday in Utah, Indiana, Virginia, West Virginia and Illinois. The majority remained away.

In refusing to work, the strikers claim they were left without a contract Friday when the union signed a new agreement with three independent producers. The agreement calls for paying top-rated miners $30 a day with another $1 raise April 1, 1967.

The association has taken the position that the current contract is an open-end affair and still in effect.

The miners on strike had received a base pay of $26.25 a day.

The festival commemorates a 1912 gift of cherry trees to the city from Japan. Since 1954, a Japanese stone lantern has been lit to open the ceremonies.

There are speeches. William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, got up to talk and the microphone drowned out.

Humphrey, hatless and tiny rivulets of water running down his tunic, noted that President Johnson was in Texas where "it's dry and sunny and he left his vice president in Washington where it's cold and wet."

Humphrey fell upon the scattered few present to thank Japan for "relieving us of a drought. We're doubly blessed. It rained last year too."

Louis C. Miriani

Miriani Cited In Tax Evasion

DETROIT (AP) — A federal grand jury Tuesday charged former Mayor Louis C. Miriani with evading payment of income taxes totaling $162,621 over a four-year period.

Miriani, a lawyer and Common Councilman, immediately said he was innocent of the charges and "confident that a fair trial will result in my complete exoneration."

The jury's indictment charged Miriani failed to report and pay taxes on income of $258,495 from 1959-62. Most of this income — $220,334 — was earned while Miriani was mayor, the indictment indicated.

Miriani did pay taxes on income totaling $125,330 during the period, the government said.

Government attorneys said arraignment was expected this week, probably Friday.

The U.S. attorneys did not pinpoint the source of the extra quarter-million dollars they said Miriani received.

Miriani's terse post-indictment statement, however, indicated to some that political contributions might have been involved. He said his case was similar to one brought against ex-Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois.

In 1964, the government accused Stratton of putting campaign contributions to personal use and not paying taxes on them.

The defense argued Stratton used contributions to meet expenses he would not have incurred if not in office. He was acquitted last year.

Miriani's attorney, John Raymond, said it "appears there are great similarities" between the two cases.

Cripple Guns Bandit, Too Many Robberies

DETROIT (AP) — After seven burglaries at his home in two weeks, a 68-year-old crippled man decided it was "inevitable that someone got hurt," and shot and killed a burglar.

Max Starns is a retired marble-setter who barely can totter with the aid of a cane. He suffers from a broken spine and arthritis.

When the neighborhood changed, Starns installed bullet-proof glass in the back door. He moved most of his money and his most valuable possessions to a bank vault and marked the remaining money. And he bought a .38 revolver.

He expected an insurance agent to call on him Tuesday, so Starns left the rear door unlocked and had a $5 payment ready on the kitchen table.

Also ready, next to his chair, was a small bench on which the revolver rested, covered by a handkerchief.

Starns was waiting for the insurance man when a 21-year-old entered through the unlocked rear door. Starns said the man, holding one hand in his pocket as if carrying a gun, ordered Starns to sit still or die.

Starns said he sat quietly as the thief took the $5 from the table, took his coin purse and 55 cents, then ransacked the house.

The elderly man said the bandit went out the rear door and he rose, picked up the revolver, shuffled to the door and fired three times.

Police took a man they identified as Ferris Gomillion, 21, in critical condition to Detroit General Hospital with a bullet in his spine. The man died several hours later.

"I'm sorry this young man had to get it," Starns said, "but it was inevitable that someone got hurt. With eight burglaries in two weeks, someone was bound to get shot—a bandit or me."

B52 Raid Seals Pass On Reds' Supply Route

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Air Force reported today that the first B52 raid on North Viet Nam set off huge landslides which sealed the strategic Mu Gia Pass through which the Communists funnel men and supplies to the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

The report of the B52 success came on the heels of a Viet Cong mortar attack early today on Saigon's huge military and civilian airport which killed seven U.S. servicemen and a Vietnamese civilian, wounded 108 American military men, one American civilian and 19 Vietnamese, destroyed four planes and set a 400,000-gallon fuel tank ablaze.

The airport attack demonstrated once more the power of the Viet Cong to strike at will in the Saigon area with harassing tactics. But operations at the huge installation were not disrupted.

The fleet of high-level B52s from Guam dropped nearly 1.4 million pounds of explosives Tuesday on the tortuous mountain pass on the Laotian border, 230 miles south of Hanoi, through which men and arms feed into the Ho Chi Minh Trail. It was probably the heaviest bomb load of the war.

Water Drips Off Hubert's Ears At Cherry Fest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Cherry Blossom Festival — which boasts of being the world's outstanding springtime celebration — opened in wind and rain with water dripping off Hubert H. Humphrey's ears.

All agreed it was something of a mess.

Several hundred folding chairs were set up in puddles amid cherry trees near the Jefferson Memorial.

The trees are annual agony to festival officials who fear they may bloom too early or too late for the six days of festivities. This year the blossoms came early and hard-driving rain sent half of them to the ground.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall noted, with water dripping off his nose and his feet drenched, that the fallen petals created a nice "polka dot effect."

There was no tent for comfort and the rain never stopped.

The 50 cherry blossom princesses, representing the states, were clad in identical plastic raincoats. Their mascara ran and hairdos collapsed.

Japan's cherry blossom queen, Hisako Nakahara of Tokyo, held a hurriedly purchased $3.98 drugstore umbrella. The wife of Japanese Ambassador Ryutji Takeuchi wrapped her kimono around her legs to keep warm.

The festival commemorates a 1912 gift of cherry trees to the city from Japan. Since 1954, a Japanese stone lantern has been lit to open the ceremonies.

There are speeches. William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, got up to talk and the microphone drowned out.

Another was held in reserve in a plastic vegetable sack. The saxophone player in the Air Force Band got water in his pipes and the band director stood in mud.

Atlantic Blow Takes 8 Lives

NEW YORK (AP) — A mountainous wave that crashed over the Italian luxury liner Michelangelo in a violent storm Tuesday claimed three lives, including an American, a company spokesman said today. Eleven other persons were injured.

The ship is expected to arrive in New York Friday, one day late.

Five men also were lost in the same Atlantic storm from a British freighter 600 miles off Newfoundland.

A spokesman for the Italian Line, the government company which owns the Michelangelo, said at Genoa that the victims were an American and German passenger and a crewman. The dead passengers were John Steinbach, 58, a Chicago insurance executive, and Werner Berndt of Hamburg.

Umberto Nordi, a line director, said the captain told him the wave was more than 130 feet high and caused considerable damage to deck areas and cabins when it washed over the liner. The report on the size of the wave arrived in a radio message from the ship.

The master of the 44,000-ton queen of Italy's passenger fleet, Capt. Giuseppe Saletti, said in a radiotelephone interview Tuesday night that the wave struck the line about 10:20 a.m. (8:20 a.m. EST) Tuesday as "a fierce wind of about 70 knots was blowing."

At that time Saletti was quoted as saying the wave was 32 feet high. But Nordi said Saletti estimated to him the wave was four times higher than that.

Saletti said he was on the bridge when the wave hit. Saletti said Steinbach and Berndt were in their first-class cabins when the giant wave struck. Both men died of head injuries, the company said.

In Chicago, friends of Steinbach said he had been on a business trip in Europe and they had heard from him several days ago from Germany. A native of Chicago, he was a widower and had three children, they said.

No State Funds For UM Traffic Safety Institute

LANSING (AP) — The new Traffic Safety Institute at the University of Michigan doesn't intend to ask for state funds, the State Safety Commission was told Tuesday.

The institute is being financed by a $4 million grant for a building from General Motors and Ford Motor Co. and $6 million for operating expenses over a five-year period from the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Robert Hess, interim director, gave a preliminary report and said future plans for the institute would be formed by the end of the month.

Stropich Wins National Honor

Frank J. Stropich, 37-year-old Escanaba businessman's advertising and sales promotion techniques have earned him a runner-up award in the annual Retailer-of-the-Year competition sponsored by Brand Names Foundation, Inc.

One of three Michigan retailers who gained top spots in various categories of the national program, Stropich goes to New York City this week to accept the honor at the Foundation's annual banquet tonight, which will be attended by some of the nation's leading business figures, including Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor, the keynote speaker.

Stropich won the award for "outstanding retail merchandising" at his Marathon service station at the intersection of US-2 and US-41 in Escanaba.

Born, raised and schooled in the Upper Peninsula, the tall, muscular, former football player and Korean War veteran is pleased of course, at winning the honor. "This supports my contention that the U.P. is alive with business opportunities; all it takes is a little inspiration, and a lot of perspiration."

Stropich should know. A seven-day-a-week worker, he started in business in 1947 in a run-down, badly outdated "filling" station, which he twice remodeled and eventually converted into one of the area's high volume stations.

In addition, he operates a second station at Rapid River and is gasoline and fuel oil jobber for Marathon Oil Co. in all of Delta County.

Not content with success in the petroleum business, Stropich also owns a motel, is a licensed heating contractor, has constructed seven homes in the area — including the one he presently lives in with his wife, Gloria, and their 11-year-old daughter, and is Delta County distributor for Firestone Rubber Co.

And, "just for the heck of it," he plays drums in a local dance orchestra.

As for the merchandising techniques that placed his business with the top 10 from among the nation's 200,000 service stations, Stropich has a simple formula: "Have something going all of the time."

Included in his advertising budget — which runs a healthy 5% of gross sales — are newspaper and broadcast ads, handbills, booklets, films, speakers, billboards, team sponsorships, four different kinds of trading stamps, and even Christmas gifts for his holiday customers.

His promotional items include everything from seamless stockings to sunflower seeds, from golf balls to garden hoses. Coming up next: plastic Batman kits.

Stropich, who comes from Croston stock, keeps busy in his community. He ushers in the church, belongs to the Elks Club and is active in the National Oil Fuel Institute and other business associations.

The trophy he brings back to Escanaba on Thursday isn't the only prize he has taken this year. In January, he won a Rose Bowl weekend in California, and he's just a few gallons away from winning a color TV set.

County Board Bills In Senate

LANSING (AP) — All the cards were on the table today, but the dealing was just about to begin in the Senate over the apportionment of county boards of supervisors.

Senate Republicans introduced a substitute to a House-approved bill to apportion county supervisory boards on a one man-one vote basis.

The Republican plan is geared to a 1966 election of supervisors on a one man-one vote basis—although lawyers were expected to argue for months the effects of recent Michigan Supreme Court rulings on the question.

The court earlier this month split 4-4 on two contradictory lower court opinions—one upholding population-only county apportionment and the other opposing it.

Republicans and Democrats have caucused on the question to decide what each group wants.

Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, sponsor of the substitute, admitted its primary purpose is for negotiation between the two parties and he does not expect it to be adopted.

The Republican plan gives present boards of supervisors 60 days after the bill becomes law to apportion themselves. Failing that, an apportionment board would come into being—including the chairman of the present board, one member selected by the township governing boards in the county, another chosen by the city governing bodies, and two named by the senior circuit judge.

The county could contract with the U.S. Census Bureau for additional population figures.

Ask $86,506 For Reading, Speech:

Schools OK Title I Proposal

By DAVE ANDREWS

Escanaba zig-zagged into the Elementary-Secondary Education act Tuesday night when the Area Board of Education approved a Title I program requesting $86,506 for a six-weeks summer developmental reading program.

The program will run from June 20 to July 29 at reading centers established at John Lemmer and Webster elementary schools and Holy Name High School, if it is approved by state and federal agencies.

Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett said the project proposal will be submitted immediately. He said accelerated procedures are expected to result in acceptance or rejection in about two weeks.

The program will use Escanaba's Area's complete share of Title I funds as allocated for the current year.

Citizens Help

Developed by a citizens committee working in cooperation with school administration and teachers, the summer program would spend $46,984 on 51 salaries, $23,297 for reading equipment, $12,475 for materials and supplies and $3,750 for administrative expense.

The Board of Education would hire 35 teachers to work with children having reading difficulties in 2½-hour morning sessions five days a week.

Delta County's tax base was equalized Tuesday at $78,815,320 by the Board of Supervisors—a gain of $2,484,404 from 1965.

The gain in equalized valuation more than made up for the $1.8 million lost last year through application of new industrial and personal property taxing schedules.

Peter T. Ross, county tax director, said about $1.25 million of the gain this year came by addition of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. pipeline to the tax rolls.

"We also had a good year on residential property and there was a fair amount of new commercial in the City of Escanaba."

Ross said there was about $850,000 in assessed new residential property in the county this year.

The remainder of the increase he attributed to increased inventories in personal property assessments.

The increase pushes Delta County back over its $78.1 million equalized valuation of 1964 and will bring more money into the treasury of tax supported functions, like schools and county government.

Assuming allocations remain the same, the additional valuation will mean about $18,000 in revenue to Delta County government, and about $18,350 to the Escanaba Area School District. Gladstone public schools will also pickup extra money from an expanded tax base, as will township school districts.

Equalized valuation gained $1,365,470 in the City of Escanaba. Gladstone, which has yet to feel the impact of Eaton, Yale & Towne's major expansion plans on its tax base, gained $264,482.

Total gain in the 14 townships from 1965 to 1966 was $653,452 with much of that coming through pipeline assessments. All townships except Maple Ridge showed gains ranging from $6,165 in Bark River to $289,135 in Wells. Maple Ridge dropped $5,816, due in part to an adjustment in assessing ratio.

In addition, two speech therapists would be employed to work with children having speech difficulties.

An estimated 450 to 550 pupils from both public and private schools are expected to participate.

The proposal reports that the Area Schools have 435 referrals with reading difficulties and 220 speech referrals. Non-public schools have referred 234 with reading problems and 86 with speech difficulties.

Total number, which includes students from all grades, would be further screened by teaching personnel.

Reservations Expressed

Mrs. Robert Mosenfelder, who moved to accept the program, said she had serious doubts whether 600 students would participate in the program and insisted on a series of safeguards to protect the school administration.

She asked: 1, that teacher recruitment and all hiring for the procedure be done in strict accordance with regular school procedure and that only qualified instructors be hired; 2, that complete checks be made on enrollment figures and subsequent attendance and record be made on how many students were counseled and received speech correction work; that all proper accounting procedures be adhered to the letter of the law in expending the program funds.

"I think we need the remained work, but I'm not sure we spend this amount of money wisely in this amount of time," she said.

Kenneth Buckland opposed the program on two counts. He said he did not feel the federal government is the answer to elementary education problems and that with this program and its implications of continuance the assumption is made that it is.

Equipment Stays

Louis Diedrich, supervising principal of Lemmer and Webster Schools and a member of the proposal writing committee, assured the Board of Education that all proper methods would be used.

Equipment purchased under the program would remain in possession of the Area School system and could be used throughout the regular school program to provide reading assistance.

All funds allocated must be spent before Aug. 30, or they will revert to the federal government. The second year of Title I operation begins July 1.

Surviving are four sons, Chester Nichol of Escanaba, Howard, Dean and Ted of Milwaukee; and two daughters, Mrs. Doris Kemp, New York City, and Mrs. Zitner, of 2831 N. 5th St., Milwaukee.

Mrs. Nichol was born in Iceland and after coming to this country resided for many years on Washington Island.

County Requests 2-41 Meeting To Resolve Delays

The Delta County Board Tuesday unanimously moved to ask the State Highway Dept. to reconsider action postponing the four-lane highway project on US-2-41 between Gladstone and Rapid River.

Action came after a request by Supervisor Joseph Goodman of Brampton Township.

The Board ordered telegrams be sent to the State Highway Dept. in Lansing requesting a meeting with township and City of Gladstone officials to discuss resolution of the delay. Requests will also be sent to Rep. Einar Erlandsen (D-Escanaba) and Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert (R-Petoskey) asking their support of the project.

Delayed To 1969

Construction on the proposed highway was originally scheduled to begin this summer, but bid letting on the project was first postponed to this fall and just recently knocked back to January, 1969.

The project involves relocation of 4.5 miles of highway from Gladstone to Rapid River at an estimated cost of $2.5 million. State Highway Director Howard E. Hill reported that project had been delayed because of lack of funds.

The County Board also approved a tentative 1967 budget calling for $588,032 — an increase of $22,670 over the 1966 budget.

Included in the budget are salary increases ranging from $200 to $650 for county officers and from $60 to $180 per year for clerks and secretaries. Deputy sheriff's officers would receive $200 annual boosts.

Action In October

Total salary increase cost to the county would be $5,790. Most of the other budget boost would come in a jump in contingency appropriation of $12,817 from $7,183 to $20,000; a $3,500 appropriation to finance the county's master plan and a $6,500 contribution for the county employees pension plan. Final action on the budget comes in October.

In other business, the Board of Supervisors tabled a request by City Ambulance service for a contract with the county; rejected a request from Bark River Township that the county take over maintenance of Pulaski Park; approved payment of $2,425 to Kobas Electric of Escanaba for rewiring of the Delta Nursing Home, and approved purchase of a floor polisher and scrubber for the County Jail with cost not to exceed $300.

A resolution commending Glenn Moreau of Escanaba for service on the Board was approved. Moreau was replaced on the Board when he failed to win election in the recent City Council election.

Explain Rail Merger Plans

The background on proposals for merger of railroads that would affect the interests of the Escanaba area were told to the Rotary Club at its meeting Tuesday noon at the House of Ludington.

The speaker was D. A. Underwood, Escanaba, district sales agent, Chicago & North Western Railway, who was accompanied by Carroll Ames, Green Bay, district sales agent for that area.

Don Yost, Rotary Club president, conducting the meeting and the speaker was introduced by Dr. T. A. McInerney, Rotary program chairman.

Underwood told of the impact on the Escanaba area of the competing Union Pacific and North Western plans to acquire control of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad.

The North Western has 467 miles of track in the Upper Peninsula and employs 406 persons on an annual payroll of nearly $3,000,000.

"Nothing that so severely damages the railroads that serve this region can possibly be good for the Escanaba area. And therein lies the threat of the proposed Union Pacific-Rock Island merger," said Underwood.

Literally billions of dollars of freight are at stake over the next decade in the current struggle between Union Pacific and the North Western over merger with the Rock Island, he added.

"If the Union Pacific is permitted to invade the Midwest by taking over the Rock Island, the existing midwestern railroads would be so severely harmed that their ability to continue to render service to this vital industrial and agricultural region could be seriously impaired," Underwood said.

"And this means that communities all over the Midwest, like Escanaba, could suffer," he concluded.

The female ostrich does not incubate the egg — that's the job of the male.

Buildings But Not Cash:

Board Favors Community-Schools

The Escanaba Board of Education endorsed the community-school concept Tuesday night — as long as it doesn't cost the school district any money for community recreation purposes.

Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett has requested Board action to give him directions in dealing with the City of Escanaba.

Verdict from the Board was: Continue operating as we are until more concrete proposals and budgets are developed and submitted for consideration.

The Board went "on record as endorsing the community-school concept and will cooperate to the extent of providing school buildings as long as the entire funding and administration of the program remains the responsibility of the city."

The resolution also expressed a desire to continue to review and study the program and cooperate as much as possible.

Money Problems

Major roadblock, despite the city's apparent willingness to throw its entire recreation budget into the program, was financing. Fears again were expressed that if a full-scale community-school program were initiated in the area, that the budget would grow out of range within several years.

If the program out-grew the city appropriation, Board members were afraid the burden of financing would fall on the already tight budget of the school district.

Trustee Forrest Henslee suggested that the city consider hiring a recreation director who has had Community-School training and that in his first year he develop a program and budget for consideration the following year.

He pointed out that the city already has funds available to hire a recreation director as it is operating with only a part-time director now.

Budget Approved

Kenneth Buckland voiced opposition to committing the Board of Education to a program which still has "too many unanswered questions."

In other business, the Board approved a tentative 1966-67 operating budget of $1,898,947 — an increase of $206,202 over the current budget. Anticipated income for the school district is $1,853,945.

The tentative budget will be submitted to the Delta County Tax Allocation Board for consideration in action on distributing the county's 15-mill base tax.

Supt. Barrett pointed out the budget is only tentative and before final action is taken a public hearing will be held, probably in July. He said as yet negotiations have not been completed with teachers and non-professional employees over contracts for next year and estimates on salary expenses are difficult to make.

The Board is currently in the midst of professional negotiations with the Escanaba Chapter of the Michigan Education Association and will begin talks with the Escanaba Area

Public Schools Employees Association next week.

Employees Recognized

The Employees Association was recognized as sole bargaining agent for non-teaching staff after a check of signature cards was made by a third party. The Board had previously refused to recognize the 76-member group because no verification had been presented that members represented the group they claimed to represent.

A meeting with the Bark River-Harris Board of Education was tentatively set up for Tuesday, April 19, to discuss the proposed reorganization plan to be voted on July 25. Under the plan, the Escanaba Area and Bark River-Harris School districts would join into a new unit.

School census takers appointed were Phyllis Tolman, Roma Anderson, Audrey Fix, Mary Meyers and Ethel Victorson, all of Escanaba; Ethel Wright, Cornell; Arthur Nelson, Ford River; and Mrs. William Olsen, Wells.

Parking Study Report Coming

A progress report on Escanaba's central business district survey will be presented to the Planning Commission when it meets in the City Hall at 4 p.m. Thursday.

Thompson A. Dyke of Harland Bartholomew and Associates, planning consultants retained by the city, will present the report, which is part of a study relating to preparation of a parking plan for the city's downtown district.

The business district phase of the planning program has been given priority at the request of the retail merchants. A city-wide comprehensive plan will follow.

Milton Embs, the city's administrative assistant, said the Planning Commission will also:

Hear a request to vacate an alley in the Smith-Dunlap Addition; consider a request to use a lot in the Selden Addition for new car storage; and review a street plan for the area between the Kurz Brothers and Lord & Saul Additions.

Mrs. John Stevens Claimed By Death

Mrs. John Stevens, the former Lorraine Nadeau, died in Sanardo, Calif., on Monday. The family had lived there but a short time and her death was unexpected. She was 38 years old.

She is survived by her husband, John, and two daughters, Connie and Karen at home; her father, Oscar (Pete) Nadeau of Ford River; and two cousins, Leo Lancour, Escanaba, and Mrs. John LaPine, Bark River Rte. 2.

Mrs. Stevens had resided in Escanaba until after her graduation from Escanaba High School; then moved to Milwaukee and recently to California.

Court Reporting Going Electric

Michigan's State Supreme Court justices conferred with circuit judges of the Upper Peninsula at the Delta County court house today on judicial practices and the discussion indicated that electronic recording is going to be a big thing in the courts of the future as it has long been in American music.

Chief Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh presided at the sessions here today. Sitting with him were Supreme Court Justices Paul L. Adams, Sault Ste. Marie; Otis Smith, Lansing; and Michael D. O'Hara of Menominee.

Circuit judges at the sessions were Robert Wright, Ironwood; George Baldwin, Munising; Ernest Brown, Iron Mountain; Bernard H. Davidson, Marquette and Edward H. Fenlon, Cheboygan.

Their court reporters accompanied the circuit judges because one of the supreme court's interests was in delays in preparing and furnishing transcripts of trial testimony in appeals.

The discussion indicated that the delay in transcripts is not a problem in the Upper Peninsula courts like it is in some courts in metropolitan areas downstate, where supply of such transcripts is as much as two years behind requests.

The supreme court's interest in electronic recording of trial testimony was in supplementing the manual function of the court reporter and not replacing it. There had been some thought among court reporters that the move might replace them.

Marv Pearson Is Promoted

Marvin W. Pearson of Escanaba has been appointed to Employers Insurance of Wausau's home office staff as research and development coordinator. The appointment was announced by C. H. Elsby, vice president - safety and health services.

Pearson, a native of Milwaukee, graduated from the University of Minnesota with a B. S. degree in 1950. He has been a safety consultant in Escanaba since joining Employers Insurance in 1955. Prior to that he was a forester for the Diamond Match Co. and the U. S. Forest Service.

He is a member of the American Society of Safety Engineers and the Society of American Forestry. Because of his very broad experience with special hazards of the logging industry, Pearson will be available as a forestry safety specialist wherever he may be needed in that capacity within the company, Elsby said.

Pearson, his wife and two children, will be moving to Wausau in the near future.

In Escanaba Pearson has been active in community affairs and served as general chairman of the Logging Congress convention a few years ago. He is a member and a director of the Rotary Club of Escanaba.

About Getting Richer

The Upper Peninsula keeps saying that it's looking for ways to jack itself up economically, but it isn't consistently. It is neglecting known ways to better itself.

The biggest thing in the U. P. is its forest. It covers nearly 90 per cent of the land area of the U. P. It is the Peninsula's greatest natural resource, along with the Great Lakes, partly because it is renewable. Our minerals, once mined, are gone. But the forest can be grown like a crop.

Increasingly it is being grown as a crop. There's a reminder of this change in the current preparations to mark the 25 anniversary of the Tree Farm System next June.

The first tree farm in the nation was dedicated by the Weyerhaeuser Co. in a 120,000 acre tract of second growth timber in Washington in 1941. The first statewide tree farm program was launched in Alabama the next year. Arkansas, California and Oregon hurried into the act that same year.

Michigan didn't get into the program until 1949, five years after neighboring Wisconsin had signed up. Most of the Upper Peninsula's wood goes to Wisconsin mills and the Badger State was looking for ways to make itself more self-sufficient and independent in wood supply for its industries. Tree farming is one of the best ways to do it.

Michigan has caught up with Wisconsin and passed her. Our state now has 1,074 tree farms with a total acreage of 1,433,468. Wisconsin's 920 tree farms have a bit larger acreage to give her leadership in the Lake States, with Minnesota a poor third with 1,645 farms but only 754,064 acres of such woodlands.

A tree farm isn't a magic forest. It's still privately owned and tax-paying. More than 96 per cent of tree farms are open to the public for hunting, fishing and other outdoor recreation.

A tree farm differs from any other privately owned woodland only in that its owner has pledged that he'll use it for the continuing growing of trees for man's use. To help him keep this pledge the wood industries and the Conservation Department make their professional foresters available to help manage the tree farms.

This is a bargain of great dimensions for the owners of woodlands. They can without cost get professional aid in making their woodlands more productive, more profitable, more attractive. The benefits would be huge, if the program could be applied generally. They would literally transform the Upper Peninsula. They would affect the third of U.P. forest ownership which does the poorest job of managing its woodlands. (The state and federal forests and the industrial forests do best.)

Thousands of acres would cease being brushland and scrub woodland and wastelands of other kinds under forest management. This could be done with a modest investment and in many cases with no investment at all; only a judicious cutting of the forest to improve its quality.

But the paradox of Upper Peninsula indifference to this opportunity persists. There have been several studies of it and the researchers just shake their heads and say "They just don't seem to care." Part of the problem is absentee ownership, but indifference to good stewardship is the chief reason.

Robert Schmeling, woodlands manager for Escanaba Division of Mead Corp., who is chairman of the Michigan Tree Farm Committee, says that the number of Upper Peninsula tree farms and their acreage increase and that the Tree Farm System could not handle a huge increase in tree farms. He said that the system lacks sufficient professional foresters to make the necessary inspections of progress on the tree farms if the acreage suddenly ballooned.

Opportunity is knocking with a fine wooden knuckle.

Ever since 1961, when the figure stood at $650 million for the fourth consecutive year, the barometer measuring tourist activity in Michigan has been steadily climbing toward the billion mark.

Boosts to $680, $727 and $850 million preceded the 1965 giant step to $980 million in recreational travel spending in Michigan.

Officials emphasize these figures are conservative estimates. Extensive surveys in 1964 and 1965 have placed these spending rates in a category called "primary tourist spending."

Only overnight travelers and their expenditures for food, lodging, entertainment and transportation are included.

BEST GUESSES of the fringe areas of spending indicate the business activity involving recreation travel would be well over $1 billion.

Indications that the year-round travel attractions of Michigan are gaining in popularity were good in 1965. Winter spending was up 4 per cent; summer travel activity increased by about 13 per cent, and autumn expenditures increased by about 9 per cent.

MEASUREMENT of these activities takes in the several important sources of information throughout the state. These include traffic on the Mackinac, Blue Water and Ambassador Bridges and the Detroit-Windsor Tunnel.

Inquiries to local Chambers of Commerce and the state and regional tourist bureaus also are a part of the tabulation. Attendance at state parks provides still another portion of the measuring stick of tourist volume.

Still another gauge is found in numbers visiting special points of interest such as Greenfield Village and the Soo Locks.

Reports from almost every indicator in the state showed a good year in 1965 and aside from a somewhat disappointing ski season early this year, experts expect the $1 billion mark to be easily passed this year.

Threat of public identification of juvenile law breakers is the latest state effort to combat rising crime rates among youngsters.

Many have overriding doubts that threat of publicity of vandals, thieves and other offenders would have any lasting impact on juveniles. Indeed, there have been instances where publicity was seen by juveniles as a form of recognition rather than a criticism of them.

On the other side is Rep. Bobby D. Crim, Davison Democrat, who sponsored the legislation now under consideration. He contends that if both the juveniles and their parents were publicly called to task for delinquency, it might provide a two-pronged deterrent: from the family and from peers of the offenders.

"As it is now," says Crim, "every time some hood is arrested and convicted, it is never said who it is and the whole juvenile class gets blamed."

Theory of the family pressure idea is that parents might be more concerned about their children's activities if they thought anti-social behavior would openly be reflected on the home.

As the law stands now, probate courts dealing with juvenile law breakers are forbidden from releasing to newspapers the names of youngsters involved.

Crim's bill, now under Senate consideration after passage in the House, would give the probate judge discretionary power to release or suppress these names.

Reassess Concepts

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — What follows are excerpts from a memorandum now being circulated privately among the military planning staffs in the Pentagon. This analysis was written by an American officer in Viet Nam. It's causing considerable debate.

"On 10 May, (1965) an estimated two main-force Viet Cong regiments attacked (Song Be, the provincial capital of Phuoc Long Province). 'The Viet Cong suffered prohibitive casualties at the hands of a determined band of Vietnamese and American defenders. The kill-ratio was definitely in favor of the Allied forces.'

"The Viet Cong failed to completely overrun the capital. However, events during the aftermath of the battle indicated that the outcome of the action was doubtful.

"Governmental officials began a mass exodus from Song Be, using all manner of pretexts to return to Saigon. Private citizens became wandering refugees. Effective government ceased to exist.

"In the next months, June and July, the process was repeated at the district towns of Don Xoai and Bu Dop.

"The pattern of crumbling of the local government and creation of refugees was repeated at Dong Xoai. The Viet Cong, using surrounding rubber plantations as marshaling areas for the attack, were hit heavily by air strikes.

"In the process, the rubber plantations, the major means of livelihood for thousands of Vietnamese, were destroyed. 'Had the two opposing forces met on a conventional battlefield within the context of Western military doctrine framework, often called 'conventional' warfare, no one could doubt that the outnumbered Vietnamese and Americans had won a clear-cut victory.

"Had the Viet Cong desired the critical terrain of these two areas as an objective, they most certainly failed.

"However, the Viet Cong obtained their objective, the disablement of government control and loss of its support by the population.

"The Viet Cong proved that the government was incapable of providing protection and security for the population in return for their support.

"The concept of a tactical success or victory must be reassessed. It is not longer possible to credit victory to the side which maintains control of critical terrain and... suffers the fewer casualties.

"Unlike the conflicts in which the American armed forces have participated in the past, the objective is not control of a land mass.

"The primary objective in revolutionary warfare is to gain at least the tacit support of the rural population and establish some measure of control over them.

"The secondary objective is to destroy the insurgent through armed action..."

"The Viet Cong proved that the government was incapable of providing protection and security for the population in return for their support.

Original Frat House Doomed

ALBION (AP) — The house where "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" was born is to be torn down.

Midwestern members of Sigma Chi fraternity gather Saturday at Albion College to mark the 80th anniversary of the chapter and bid farewell to the first structure built specifically in the United States to house a fraternity.

All Albion fraternities next fall will be housed in a complex of six buildings now being completed on campus. The Sigma Chi House, erected in 1914, will be torn down. The Albion campus has special significance for the fraternity as the birthplace of the song, "The Sweetheart of Sigma Chi."

Ann Landers

Widow's Beau Plays Harmonica On Phone

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow in my middle 60's. A gentleman who lost his wife three years ago has been taking me out for six months. He is a fine person but something about him bothers me.

This gentleman telephones almost every evening and plays tunes on the harmonica. Sometimes I stand by the phone for 15 minutes listening to several choruses of "My Wild Irish Rose." I'm on a three-party line and the other folks get mad when he ties up the phone with his musicals. He doesn't hear them holler, "Get the bum off," but I hear them and it's embarrassing.

I hate to hurt the gentleman's feelings because I know he thinks he is pleasing me. Kindly advise. — IN A QUANDRY.

Dear Q: Invite the gentleman to serenade you in person. I'll bet he'd prefer a live audience and I'm sure the folks on the party line would appreciate it if he'd free up the phone.

Dear Ann Landers: You might think it's strange that a mother of 10 children is writing to you for advice, but I need it.

My six older children are happily married — two are physicians, one is a nurse and three are social workers. My old-fashioned methods worked fine with them, but my four teenagers at home tell me that times have changed and I must change with them.

I refuse to let my teen-agers go steady. My 15-year-old son tells me that the parents of his special girl friend want him to be her steady fellow and they feel I'm too strict.

My own sister has a son who has been going steady for eight months. He is only 15. When I asked her why she permitted it she said, "What can a mother do when a teen-ager puts his foot down? What is the answer? — OLD TIME MOTHER"

You sound like a terrific dame to me and I hope you'll use on the four kids at home the same rules that worked so well with your six grown-up kids.

Dear Ann: Last night my wife and I attended a big banquet. First on the program was a soprano who sang the national anthem. The woman had a beautiful voice and she sang all four verses. When she finished I applauded with a few others.

I remarked to Olive that there was mighty little applause considering all the effort that the singer had put into it. Olive said, "Look, stupid, NOBODY is supposed to applaud the national anthem."

I say when people sing the national anthem they shouldn't applaud themselves, but when a singer sings it, she should get applause because she is a performer. Who is right? — THE SPOUSE

Dear Spouse: If you want to let the singer know your appreciation her efforts, tell her after the banquet, but don't applaud the national anthem — ever.

Lillian Gish Is No Museum Piece

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Lillian Gish neither looks nor acts like a museum piece.
Her history would indicate that she should be put on display at some repository of movie history. After all she appeared in her first film in 1912 and starred in D. W. Griffith classics: "Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," "Broken Blossoms," etc.
Yet the soulful Gish eyes remain as alert as a teen-ager's, and she has an outlook to match.
"I don't believe I had more than two weeks off in the past year," she remarked. "I did a season of Shakespeare up in Stratford, Conn. Then I came right out here for 'Follow Me, Boys' at the Disney Studios."
"After that, I went back to New York to begin rehearsals for 'Any,' which George Abbott directed. It was a beautiful play which lasted only a month in New York because of three bad reviews. I think it will have the same fate as 'Porgy and Bess,' which did poor business because of reviews when it opened, then was revived to become an American classic."

Miss Gish flew here from an Italian vacation to appear in "The Warning Shot" with David Janssen. During her stay here she will visit with old friends and coworkers. If there is any time left over, she may do some work on the memoir she is writing about her great mentor, Griffith.
"But that is terribly hard work for me," she admitted, "and I usually have to hole up in a room in Switzerland to get anything written."
Her schedule may seem remarkable for a 69-year-old, but it doesn't seem so to Miss Gish. Fortunately for her, she is not required to maintain an income. During her heyday on the screen, from age 12 to 30, she managed herself well. She never succumbed to the grand living that consumed the assets of many stars.
"I never even bought a home in California," she explained. "New York was always my home and still is. The money I made went into the bank, not into acquisitions."

Tax Collectors Hear Pale Humor

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a tax collector gets tired of hearing this time of year.
"What has the government ever done for me?"
"You'll have to explain it again. I didn't understand a word you said."
"If my cat has kittens, can I list each one of them as a dependent? I am their sole support. Their father ran away."
"Do you think that'll satisfy you—or do you also want the gold fillings out of my teeth?"
"Just put on the handcuffs. I'll go quietly."
"In the old days they used to tax salt. How come you guys overlooked that one?"
"So this is the Internal Revenue Service. Boy, I'm already nervous from the service."
"Why should I have to stand in line? I came here to pay taxes, not to watch a hit movie."
"Why don't you fellows just take what you want from my paycheck, and let me spend the rest in peace?"
"If you give a depreciation allowance for an old well, why not give one for a wife? My wife spouts even more than an old well."
"What do you guys know about business expenses? I'd like to see you have to meet a payroll—just once."

"Can't we finish this argument over lunch? I'll pick up the check—if it's deductible."
"So throw me in jail. You still can't get blood out of a turnip."
"The poor pay taxes, and the rich hire attorneys."
"I came here in place of my husband. He says he's too sick and tired to fight the government. Well, I'm not!"
"Tell Uncle Sam for me it's time he went on a diet."
"Please inform your Mr. Lyndon B. Johnson that I do no longer feel I can support his government in the style to which it wants to become accustomed."
"Let's make a deal. You say I owe you $988; I say you owe me $576. Let's split the difference. You pay me $150 — and we'll forget the whole matter, and start all over next year."

Chrysler Calls Cars For Repair

DETROIT (AP)—A Chrysler Corp. spokesman and a U. S. senator disagreed Tuesday over whether safety was a factor in Chrysler's decision to recall more than 17,500 new cars for repairs.
"This problem did not involve any safety factors," the auto firm spokesman said. But in Washington, Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., disagreed.
Mondale introduced last week a bill which would require car makers to give owners and dealers immediate warning of defects that could involve safety and to spell out the nature of the defects.

Chrysler cars being recalled are 17,500 Dodge Monaco and Polara models equipped with the 383 cubic inch engine with two-barrel carburetor and an undetermined number of Plymouth Furies and Chryslers equipped with the same engine, the firm said.

The spokesman said the cars are being called in to dealers "so the throttle linkage could be lengthened so as to prevent any possibility of its being stretched by the forward movement of the engine in an emergency stop."

"In an emergency stop," the firm explained, "the engine moves forward momentarily on the rubber mounts. With the shorter throttle linkage of these cars, such a stop could result in the engine stretching throttle linkage, causing a fast running engine at idle."

Mondale's staff in Washington quoted a Dodge Division service manager as saying the problem would result in a tendency to require heavier braking pressure and to increase stopping distances.
Mondale, contending owners and dealers should have been told that a safety factor was involved, said Chrysler's "letter to owners of the defective vehicles only informs them that the company 'has developed an important change in the throttle linkage' and that they should contact either the dealer from whom the car was purchased or 'any nearby authorized Dodge dealer' will quickly eliminate it."

Two weeks ago, Chevrolet Division of General Motors Corp. confirmed that it is recalling 1,500,000 late model Chevelles and standard Chevrolets with automatic transmissions to correct a problem that could cause the accelerator to stick.

The United States had 21 million horses in 1915, but the number dwindled as automobiles became popular. Horses numbered 12 million in 1935 and two million in 1960.

But not a single applicant has signed up for the $221,650 project designed to make part-time city employees of school dropouts.

Schools Debate Merger Plans

BARK RIVER — Impact on the Bark River-Harris school district of the proposed Delta-Schoolcraft school district reorganization plan was discussed Monday by the Bark River-Harris Board of Education.

Under the plan, Bark River-Harris and the Escanaba Area school district would merge if voters approve July 25.

The Bark River-Harris Board requested a meeting with the Escanaba Area school board to discuss consequences. (The Escanaba Area Board has tentatively set Tuesday, April 19, as meeting date.)

Supt. Richard Hendra outlined progress made on the Development reading program, and the Guidance Improvement project, both supported by funds granted to the School District under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Act. The Board hired Mrs. Clifford Olson as a part-time secretary in the high school, as a result of the Guidance Improvement grant. Purpose of this position is to relieve the guidance director of regular office work, which will in turn, allow him to work with more students in planning their vocations, school officials stated.

In other action, the one mill proposal for special education by the Delta-Schoolcraft Intermediate District was discussed; the Regular School Election set for June 13, 1966, and the possible erection of a storage building on school grounds reviewed.

A plan to participate with the Michigan Department of Health for a Dental survey was outlined by the Superintendent. The Board agreed to co-operate, and urged parents of children in grades 2-8 to return the permission slips to the school by Friday, April 15.

War Protesters Hammer Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaflets tossed by anti-Viet Nam war demonstrators onto the floor of the New York Stock Exchange suspended trading for a brief time.

The demonstrators said they belonged to Youth Against War and Fascism, a college group.

Within a few minutes, 11 young demonstrators were taken from the balcony by exchange security police. There were no arrests.

County Retains Planners; Approves Pension Setup

Williams & Works, Inc., consulting engineering firm of Grand Rapids, Mich., was retained Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors to develop a master plan for Delta County at a cost of $34,033.

Cost to Delta County under a federal 75-25 per cent matching fund program will be $8,509.

The Board appropriated $3,509 in the 1967 budget to supplement a $5,000 appropriation in the 1966 budget to cover the cost.

Retention of Williams & Works was recommended by Frank Stupak, Gladstone, chairman of the public affairs committee, after a comparison study which has been underway since last fall. The committee also had considered proposals of Harland Bartholomew & Associates, St. Louis, Mo.

Williams & Works is currently developing a master plan for the City of Gladstone, while Bartholomew & Associates are working on Escanaba's master plan. Desire of the committee was to use one of the two planning firms in an effort to obtain some continuity between City and county plans.

Pension Plan OK'd
The Board of Supervisors also approved placing Delta County under the Michigan Municipal Employees' retirement plan after a presentation on the program by Lawrence L. Farrell, Lansing.

Cost to the county will be about $6,500 annually. Employees will contribute a percentage of their wages into the pension fund and will be eligible to draw a retirement pension after 10 years service.

If an employee leaves county service before the 10-year period has elapsed, he or she could withdraw their own contributions from the program.

Charles Sedenquist, chairman of the board, said that about 29 employees will be included in the pension plan. He said the County Road Commission and Delta Menominee District Health Dept. operate on separate retirement programs.

Plan Bridges
Inauguration of a pension plan in Delta County has been under study by a special committee for about a year. Employees favored participation as previously there had been no retirement program in the county.

In another action, the Board approved submission of a re-tying to the federal Economic Development Administration for a loan to help finance a proposed $400,000 project to rebuild about 21 bridges on out-county roads.

The federal share of the project, if approved, would be 60 per cent or $240,000. Local cost would be $160,000. Construction work and installation of pre-fabricated type bridging would be done by the Delta County Road Commission.

Clayton Ford, whose term on the County Building Authority expired, was reappointed. The agenda was incorrect in reporting that the term of James T. Jones expired.

Three Killed In Car-Train Crash

Firemen Picket
GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — While a citizens group met Tuesday with City Manager Henry Nabers on police department pay and other problems, 12 city firemen picketed city hall for greater recognition in wages.

The protest was organized by Dan Kemper, president of Firefighters Local 368. Pickets handed out pamphlets to passersby, hoping to get their message across. Kemper said: "We have no quarrel with policemen. We just want it known that we're doing a job, too."

A Peking broadcast accused four American planes of killing three Chinese fishermen and wounding 15 in attacks in the Gulf of Tonkin April 7.

On the political front, South Viet Nam's military government awaited reaction from Buddhist leaders to its offer to hold elections for a civilian regime as quickly as possible. The Buddhists were expected to indicate their feelings with a massive new anti-government demonstration in Saigon, possibly Thursday.

Michigan Team Inspects Rural British Honduras

BELIZE, British Honduras (AP) — Members of the Michigan Partners of the Alliance team spent a full day Monday in the rural areas inspecting cattle ranches, citrus groves and tobacco plantations.

Blaque Knirk of the Michigan Agriculture Commission and Warren Huff, a beef cattle producer and trustee of Michigan State University, talked with local agricultural officers and farmers about their problems.

The five-member team earlier stopped at Xunantunich (Maiden of the Rock), a Mayan temple. They spoke of the possibility of the University of Michigan doing archaeological excavations at the site, which has many mounds yet untouched.

The Michigan team was accompanied by Prime Minister George Price and two members of the Belize partners of the Alliance team.

Blind Piano Tuner Missing

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Gerald Henke planned to bake a cake and give her husband a Braille watch to celebrate his 31st birthday.

She still has the box of cake flour. The watch has been returned to the store.

Henke's birthday was March 31. On March 4, the blind piano tuner kissed his partially blind wife goodbye at their suburban Southfield home and set out for a client's house. He never returned.

"I've heard nothing from him. Nothing at all," Mrs. Henke said today. "I'm just heart-sick."

"We don't have a thing to go on. Not a clue," said Southfield Police Detective Ronald Fasbinder.

Fasbinder said no trace had been found of Henke despite a nationwide Associated Press story about the missing man which moved 12 days after he vanished.

Mrs. Henke, 30, is ill with cancer. She said she last heard from her husband the day he disappeared. "I love you, don't worry about me," Henke told her in a telephone call from Detroit.

"There's been nothing since then," she said. "I sit and hope and hope he'll come back. Sometimes I just sit and cry all day. I cry because I think maybe somebody is holding him or that he's hurt and no one will help him. I sit and cry, and wait. That's all I can do."

The Henkes were married six years ago on Christmas Eve after a romance at a school for the blind. They are childless.

Fasbinder said he was hopeful a photograph of Henke the police had placed in the trade magazine of the Piano Tuners Guild would turn up a lead to Henke. The ad appeared last week, but there has been no response.

"The magazine has nationwide circulation and, maybe, someone will see Henke's picture and recognize him," he said. "The only thing we can do is wait and see what happens. We've tried everything else."

Another 244 attempted jumps have been prevented, either by persuasion or by forcible restraint.

Listed as the 300th death was Michael Detata, 20, a San Francisco bank clerk who plunged from the bridge Monday.

Harry Middleton Presents Program At B.&P.W. Club

Escanaba Business and Professional Women's Club met last evening at the Sherman Hotel for their regular dinner meeting. Harry Middleton, area manager of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, showed the film, "New Horizons North" which was written and directed by Norman E. Kenyon, Manager of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Companies Public Information Services and photographed by William Sweet, chief photographer of the Utility. Thousands of miles were traveled to capture the Northland in its seasonal changes.

Members of BPW were reminded of what a beautiful and productive state they are privileged to live in. Filmed in color, the movie shows striking views of Tahquamenon Falls, the Soo Locks, an impressive aerial view of the full span of the Big Mac Bridge and an exciting shot of skiers swooshing down the length of the Pine Mountain Ski Jump. There are many interesting views of Michigan industry, among them the Hanna Groveland Mine, Harnischfeger Corporation and the Escanaba ore docks.

The film also tells how Michigan Consolidated Gas Company and its affiliated Pipe Line companies have expanded their system to bring natural gas to the Upper Peninsula and shows scenes of drilling for gas and laying under-water pipe lines 60 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico. The film is an incentive to, "See Michigan First."

The greatest athlete in Manistique High School history may return as Emerald football coach next fall. The Manistique board of education has approved extending a contract to Ron Rubick to succeed Dick Bonifas as head of the football coaching staff. Rubick, who guided St. Ignace to a perfect season in his first year of prep coaching last fall, has asked time to consider the offer. Rubick set an all-time Upper Peninsula high school scoring record with 184 points as a halfback on Bonifas' 1959 team and went on to stardom at Michigan State. Bonifas resigned his job this year to head up the Manistique Community-School program.

Jim Tobin mauled the maples for a season high 678 series in the Harnischfeger bowling league, crashing games of 213, 224 and 241. It was the highest series recorded at the Bowl-a-rama this season. Tobin's 187 average is tops in the Harnischfeger league.

The annual Pabst-Blatz bowling tournament for teams sponsored by Bernie Ammel's distributing company in the Escanaba area, Rock and Gladstone will be rolled Sunday, April 24, at the Bowl-a-rama. Team captains are to call Harold Krusie for entry. There will be no tournament fee for the three-game tourney for both men's and women's teams and a trophy will go to the winners.

Clarence Konas, president of the Escanaba Softball Association, is looking for umpires this season. Anyone interested may contact Konas or attend the next association meeting which is scheduled for Thursday, April 28, at Spar's. Tentative date for the softball season opener is May 15.

Several Escanaba boxers are expected to see action on the amateur fight card to be staged in Marinette Saturday, April 23. Promoter Bobby Hansen plans 10 bouts, headed by a five rounder for his star bantamweight, Dick Schomer, a five-time Golden Gloves champion. Other boxers will come from Milwaukee, Neopit, Fond du Lac and Chicago.

Menominee High School football foes will see something different next fall when they line up against Coach Ken Hofer's Maroons. The former Stephenson coach, an ex-Wisconsin halfback, figures to switch the Menominee team from its traditional T-formation to a single wing attack. In his new post at Menominee, Hofer will have 11 starters back from last year, five from the offensive unit and six defensive players.

Plans for a $150,000 clubhouse expansion program to be completed by 1967 were approved by members of the Sault Ste. Marie Country Club recently. Part of the funds will be raised by hiking the club membership from 155 to 300. The expansion project will include a swimming pool and tennis courts.

Whitey Ford Loses Hand Warmer

Twins Open Defense Of AL Title; Tigers Tip Yanks In Opener

By The Associated Press
Downright embarrassing. That's what it was.

The Chairman of the Board had just got the proceedings underway when this little guy interrupts and points fingers and brings in some other guys in blue suits and right in front of 40,000 people makes the Chairman of the Board get rid of his hip flask. "He irritated me," Whitey Ford said in a pronounced understatement after Detroit Tiger Manager Charley Dressen had rung in the umpires and forced the Yankee left-hander to discard a hand-warmer he was carrying in his hip pocket.

JERRY CVANGROS, head football coach at Escanaba High School, will be the speaker at the 20th annual Central League basketball banquet at Rapid River Thursday night, starting at 6:30. The former Ironwood High School and University of Wisconsin football star has tutored Escanaba grid teams to 24 victories against 8 defeats and 2 ties in four seasons. Honored at the dinner will be basketball players, coaches and cheerleaders from Central League schools.

Ford, dubbed The Chairman of the Board by his Yankee teammates, grudgingly gave up the bottle of hot water he was using to warm his hands. That happened in the first inning.

He also gave up — even more grudgingly — a run-scoring single to Norm Cash in the ninth that sent the Tigers to an opening day 2-1 victory Tuesday before the largest Yankee Stadium first day crowd in 14 years.

Chicago struggled through 14 innings before subduing California 3-2. Baltimore eked out a 5-4 decision in 13 innings at Boston and Minnesota's Twins edged Kansas City 2-1 in the other American League openers. The four games drew a total of 102,225, all in cool weather.

Cleveland and Washington, who played the traditional presidential opener Monday — with Vice President Humphrey substituting for President Johnson — were not scheduled Tuesday.

In the National League, San Francisco blasted the Chicago Cubs 9-1. Pittsburgh ruined Atlanta's debut 3-2 in 13 innings and the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers downed Houston 3-2. The New York-Cincinnati and Philadelphia-St. Louis games were rained out.

"There is something about him (Dressen) that aggravates people and makes them try a little harder," Ford said after the hot water bottle incident.

Ford, the Yanks' 37-year-old ace, has a circulatory problem in his left arm and is more effective in warm weather. But he was just aggravated enough, perhaps heatedly so, to toss a six-hitter.

But it wasn't good enough. Detroit's Mickey Lolich matched the effort, struck out 10 and was damaged only by Joe Pepitone's fifth inning homer.

Detroit, however, came right back with one in the sixth on a double by Mickey Stanley and Don Wert's single. Wert was on third in the ninth and cruised home with the winner when Cash lined Ford's first pitch to him into center field.

The Twins opened defense of their league title with a squeaker.

er. They managed only four hits off loser Jim (Catfish) Hunter, but two of them were run-scoring singles by Sandy Valdespino, the last a tie-breaker in the ninth.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant, a 21-game winner last season, gave up six hits and went the distance for the victory. Hunter retired 16 batters in order over one stretch.

Tom McCraw's bases-loaded single off the first baseman's glove broke up the 14-inning, four-hour, 23-minute affair at Chicago. White Sox rookie Tony-ming Agee sent it into extra innings with a two-run homer in the seventh. Joe Adcock had a homer for the Angels, who haven't won in Chicago since July 22, 1964.

Jim Lonborg's bases-loaded, two-out balk allowed Bob Johnson to stroll home with Baltimore's winning run in the 13th at Boston. Lonborg had pitched three perfect innings of relief before Johnson singled and moved to third on a sacrifice and fly ball.

Frank Robinson, the former National League, had a homer and a single, while Brooks Robinson drove in three runs on a homer and two singles, one of them a bases-loaded, two-out drive to left that scored pinch runner Russ Snyder with the run that tied it 4-4 in the ninth and forced it into extra innings.

MILWAUKEE COUNTY Stadium is a lonely place on the opening day of the 1966 National League baseball season. Eugene Sabinash, a county employee, listened to a radio broadcast and looked out over an expanse of vacant seats Tuesday. The Braves, who occupied the Stadium for 13 years, have moved to Atlanta. The field is being kept in playing condition on the chance that the court may order the Braves to return or a replacement club sent in. (AP Wirephoto)

Lonely In Milwaukee As Braves Open In Atlanta

By The Associated Press

At County Stadium in Milwaukee, 62-year-old Florence M. Murray, who had never missed a Braves' home opener, took her regular seat in Box 11, Tier 21, holding the scorecards of 13 past seasons.

But there wasn't much going on.

"It was lonely," she admitted.

At Atlanta Stadium deep in Dixie, 24-year-old Willie Landers, another baseball fan, took his seat in Aisle 340, Row 23, waving his can of beer and howling as the Braves made their debut in the Deep South.

There was plenty going on.

But Landers was getting lonely.

"Too many ties here for these people to be real baseball fans," said Landers, who watched the crowd begin to sift out of the new $18 million dollar arena when the game went into extra innings.

And by the time Willie Stargell slugged a two-run homer in the 13th inning, giving Pittsburgh a 3-2 victory and ruining the Braves' Dixie debut, half of the crowd of 50,671 had left.

But then it had been a long day for many of the fans, who had taken part in a day of celebration heralding the Braves' official arrival. Schools and businesses were closed and a holiday atmosphere took over the city as the Braves paraded down Peachtree Street.

And the crowd at the ball park, though 200 less than capacity, exceeded season-opening attendances in either Boston or Milwaukee, the Braves' last two homes.

"It was a great day and a great night," said Braves' President John McHale. "I wasn't disappointed some of the crowd left when the game was tied. That's a normal thing at that hour."

Leo Durocher's debut as manager of the Chicago Cubs also was ruined with Willie Mays spoiling his former boss' return with a 415-foot homer that propelled San Francisco to a 9-1 victory.

In the only other National League game played, Ron Fairly drove in all three runs as the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers defeated Houston 3-2. The New York-Cincinnati and Philadelphia-St. Louis games were rained out.

In the American League, Minnesota edged Kansas City 2-1. Detroit nipped the New York Yankees by the same score, the Chicago White Sox outlasted California 3-2 in 14 innings and Baltimore outlasted Boston 5-4 in 13. Cleveland and Washington were not scheduled.

Joe Torre hit two homers for the Braves, the first off Pirate starter Bob Veale in the fifth inning. Jim Pagliaroni then tied it in the eighth inning with a homer off Braves' starter Tony Cloninger and it stayed that way until the 13th when Matty Alou beat out a bunt and Stargell connected.

Torre got one run back in the Braves' half with his second homer, but it wasn't enough. Cloninger, who went all the way allowed 10 hits and struck out 12 while absorbing the loss.

Juan Marichal got the victory for the Giants, hurling six innings of perfect ball and finishing with a three-bitter. Marichal struck out eight and walked none.

Fairly twice singled home Maury Wills and broke open a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning when he drove in Wes Parker with a sacrifice fly. Parker had walked, moved to second on a bunt and reached third on a passed ball by catcher John Bateman.

Claude Osteen checked the Astros on six hits for the victory while veteran Robin Roberts, marking his 11th opening-game assignment, took the loss.

ing with a three-bitter. Marichal struck out eight and walked none.

Mays' homer, with one on off Larry Jackson, broke up a scoreless game and started a sixth-run fourth inning rally that put it out of reach. Len Gabrielson also homered for San Francisco.

Black Hawks Edge Wings To Take 2-1 Series Lead

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings continue to dominate the battle of the bruises in their Stanley Cup semifinal playoff series with Chicago, but the Black Hawks have the edge in the more important category — games won.

Chico Maki and Eric Nesterenko scored in the second period to lead the Black Hawks to a 2-1 victory in the third game of the best-of-seven series Tuesday night. The Black Hawks have a 2-1 edge in the series.

Montreal moved to a commanding 3-0 edge in the other semifinal by drubbing Toronto, 5-2.

Maki and Chicago defenseman Elmer Vasko were forced to leave the game, but Detroit Manager-Coach Sid Abel reported his charges were in good physical shape.

Maki suffered a sprained right knee and possible torn ligaments after colliding with Detroit defenseman Bill Gadsby near the Chicago bench in the third period. He was not expected to play Thursday but was to undergo examination today.

Vasko's injury — an eight-inch cut on the back of his right thigh — was his own doing. He was cut while stopping Norm Ullman's breakaway attempt in the first period.

"This was a big one to win and a bigger one to lose," Abel said. "We had a number of opportunities early but didn't take advantage of them, then didn't cover up well enough and allowed Maki to get his goal."

"I couldn't ask Paul Henderson to make a better play on Nesterenko, but he is a little taller and just had enough of a reach to steer the puck into the net."

Chicago Coach Billy Reay, admittedly happy to see his team bounce back after the 7-0 drubbing before a national television audience Sunday, said it was a "great reversal of form" and hoped the Black Hawks could keep it up.

"All three games have been pretty rough," Reay said. "But we got a good effort out of everybody in a tough game that could have gone either way."

Bryan Watson, playing the role as Bobby Hull's shadow and drawing the high-scoring Black Hawk star into two penalties — one with the game just 40 seconds old — put the Red Wings in front with a rising 50-foot goal late in the first period.

Tom Marrier rode an eight game winning streak to the championship of the Intermediate division of the city pool tournament being conducted by the recreation department at Club 314.

Marrier was unbeatable as he swept past Ron Kern, Jerry Destrampe, Dennis Weber and Lee Robitaille to capture top honors.

Second place went to Robitaille, third to Dale Thibodeau and fourth to Weber in the field of 12 players.

Tourney action continues Thursday with the Senior men's division getting under way at 6:30.

A special feature added this year will be a Girls tournament which will be played Monday, April 18, starting at 6:30 p. m. Entries will be accepted up to starting time.

Program Is 25 Years Old

Tree Farms Are Success Story

Chicago is bracing for an invasion of forestry experts from throughout the nation on April 20-21 to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the American Tree Farm System.

Representatives of forest products companies in the Lake States will participate in the event. In recent years the industry has become increasingly dependent upon the high-quality wood products supplied by tree farmers in mill operating areas.

A tree farm is an area of privately owned, taxpaying land dedicated to continuing growth of forest crops for man's use. To become eligible for tree farm recognition, a landowner must have demonstrated an outstanding ability in the management of his woodland.

The basic requirements for certification include: (1) protecting the trees from fire, insects, disease and grazing; (2) harvesting the trees when they are ready, taking the necessary steps to insure continuing crops; and (3) planting trees on idle acres.

The tree farm idea was conceived by the Weyerhaeuser Timber Co. in Washington State in 1941.

Popular in Lake States
The tree farm movement is popular in the Lake States. It is credited with bringing under forest management large numbers of woodlands that were idle or producing less wood than they should be yielding.

Today, there are 3,836 certified tree farms in the Lake States plus North Dakota, embracing 3,728,653 acres. In total number of tree farms certified, Minnesota leads with 1,645, followed by Michigan with 1,074, Wisconsin with 920 and North Dakota with 197.

Wisconsin and Michigan, with their large industrial forests, lead in total acres enrolled with 1,534,440 and 1,433,458, respectively. Minnesota, with nearly 56 per cent of its commercial forest land in government ownership, has 754,064 acres in Tree Farms. North Dakota has 6,691 acres in the program, mostly in farmstead shelterbelts designed for protection purposes.

American Forest Products Industries, Inc.—sponsor of The American Tree Farm System—will honor the founders of the program at an anniversary dinner to be held in the Continental Plaza Hotel at Chicago on Wednesday, April 20. State foresters and chairmen of State Tree Farm Committees will also be recognized.

Schmeling State Chairman
Robert Schmeling of Escanaba, woodland manager of the Escanaba Division, Mead Corp., is chairman of the Michigan Tree Farm Committee. He will attend the Chicago anniversary meeting.

Michigan is a national leader in the tree farm program, said Schmeling, with the Upper Peninsula strongly represented in the state picture. He favors a steady growth of tree farm acreage, he said, rather than a hard campaign of enrollment of acreage in the system, because of the nature of the program.

Consulting Service

By enrolling their forest lands in the tree farm system, Schmeling explained, landowners get the free counsel of professional foresters on how to manage their woodlands. Tree farm lands are inspected first for acceptance into the system, and then at intervals of three years (not over 5 years) to determine whether the owners are following good management practices. These should improve the timber stand and increase its value, both commercially and esthetically.

Present U. P. tree farm acreage, said Schmeling is about all that the present staff of foresters available from private industry and government agencies can handle.

Traverse City
Readies Airport
For Jet Service

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — This community is applying for $3,037,000 in funds to improve Traverse City Municipal Airport with the project geared to meet the start of commercial jet airliner service in 1967.

City Manager Lawrence Savage said a federal grant of $1.5 million would be sought, plus $420,000 from the state together with a loan of nearly $1.1 million being sought from the Federal Economic Development Administration to cover the local share. Repayment of the loan is expected through increased airport revenues.

The improvement plan calls for a new runway, taxi strip and parking apron, a new terminal building, a general aviation building, T-hangers for small craft, resurfacing of an old runway and an auto parking lot.

Bank Robber
Gets Life Term

CASSOPOLIS (AP) — Roy Bowen, 41, of Chicago, the second of two men charged in a Benton Harbor bank robbery-slashing, was sentenced Tuesday to life in prison at hard labor and solitary confinement.

He was sentenced in Cass County Circuit Court where he was convicted March 23 of first degree murder.

Bowen was accused in the fatal shooting Dec. 3 of Elton

Stover, 55, a Berrien County sheriff's deputy gunned down while trying to thwart an armed robbery at a suburban Benton Harbor bank branch. Bowen's companion, Noti Perez, 43, also of Chicago, pleaded guilty to first degree murder in the case and was sentenced to life in prison at hard labor and solitary confinement.

The defendants were captured at an Indiana State Police road block shortly after the holdup.

There are 898 steps in the Washington Monument.

Revere Boosts
Copper Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Revere Copper & Brass Inc. announced Tuesday it was raising prices on all of its copper and brass fabricated products 4 to 15 cents a pound, effective immediately.

The announcement follows similar price increases announced recently by most non-ferrous metal fabricators, who blamed the increases on the high cost and scarcity of copper.

Brass and copper rod prices and tubing for air conditioning, water and waste have been affected.

Bay Cliff To Extend Season

The camping program for handicapped children at Bay Cliff Health Camp will be extended to seven weeks this summer.

John Vargo, Marquette, camp director, said in the past, the camping season has been six weeks. This year the camp will accommodate 175 campers, an increase of five.

Located at Big Bay in northern Marquette County, Bay Cliff is a non-profit, non-denominational camp for physically handicapped children from every county in the Upper Peninsula. Financed largely by private donations, Bay Cliff offers the children physical therapy and a healthy diet in a wholesome environment.

Vargo said plans call for the new girls' dormitory to be completed by the time the camp opens in June. Six of the 16 units in the dormitory already are finished.

Delta United Services is one of the supporters of Bay Cliff and Delta County sends a group of its handicapped children to the camp each summer.

Youth Corps
Aids Dropouts

LANSING (AP) — When a youth lives and works in the same community, he isn't apt to get into trouble.

That's the experience of the state conservation department with school dropouts employed under the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program.

"We haven't had any trouble with the youths in local communities, such as was experienced by the Job Corps," reported Merle Raber, assistant federal aid coordinator for the program.

The opposite is true, he said—the jobs help keep them out of trouble.

The 16-21-year-old youths employed by the department all are from low income families. They have to be out of school for at least three months to be eligible for the Conservation Department program.

They live within their local community and are placed at the nearest conservation facility.

The Conservation Department is geared more to rural communities than the larger cities, mostly because there are not many conservation facilities near the urban areas.

More than 50 per cent of the youths employed by the department are from the Upper Peninsula.

The Conservation Department feels the program has been a success, Raber said.

"The department has benefited and the youths have benefited," he said. "A lot of them have received work experience that has enabled them to go on to better jobs or encouraged them to go back to school."

This is the entire idea of the program—not to give them permanent jobs.

To date, Raber said, the youths have contributed more than 84 man-years of labor in various projects and have earned $279,920 in wages. The program is federally financed and is administered by the State Labor Department under the Economic Opportunity Act.

The heart of our business

One customer laughingly tells us we stock more items than an old-fashioned general store. That's because our customers, thank goodness, are pretty healthy and don't need enough prescriptions to keep us busy. Prescriptions are really the heart of our business. Because of them, we're open for the greater part of the day. Despite the fact that many pharmacists sell everything from books to bobby pins, we're still professional men... always ready when medication is needed.
